

Pit Idol comes to Rancho Cucamonga!

Members of the public are invited to take part in an exciting one-of-a-kind contest to help find the most charming Pit Bull at the Rancho Cucamonga Animal Care & Adoption Center and earn a chance to win great prizes including $500 cash!

Beginning January 12 2010, ten of the Center's homeless Pit Bulls will use their charms to win hearts and open minds in the hopes of being crowned Pit Idol 2010. The contest is absolutely free to enter, just visit the Rancho Cucamonga Animal Care & Adoption Center and walk through the kennels to see our fabulous Pit Bulls awaiting adoption. Each contestant will have a short "Bio" to help visitors make their choice and vote for their favorite. At the beginning of March, the Pit Bull with the most votes will be crowned Pit Idol 2010 and be awarded a full scholarship to Dogs Etc Dog Training where they will earn a coveted AKC Canine Good Citizen Certificate under the expert direction of trainer Cindy Scott. All participants who voted for the winning dog will automatically be entered into a drawing to win a top prize of $500! There will also be runners-up prizes of a Vizio LCD HDTV and an Ipod Nano.

This unique contest aims to draw attention to the wonderful qualities of this often misunderstood breed. Pit Bulls are affectionate and loyal companions who have been charming and lovable pets for decades. Did you know that Pit Bulls were once known as Nanny Dogs because of their wonderful affinity towards children or that they were fashionable pets for gilded age ladies?

We hope that Pit Idol will help to showcase the many attributes that make Pit Bulls wonderful pets and open potential adopters' minds to the possibility of adopting a Pit Bull.

So, please visit the Rancho Cucamonga Animal Care and Adoption Center, 11780 Arrow Route in Rancho Cucamonga to see our adore-a-bull contestants, help one win the coveted title of Pit Idol 2010 and get the chance to win great prizes!
